BANKS' CASE IS SET OVER

TO HEAR SUIT AGAINST TAX COLLECTORS TOMORROW.

REQUEST MORE TIME

Jury Panel Not Drawn for Nelson Trial Is Discharged.—Won't Try Carter Case.

Hearing of the suit of fifteen banks of Nodaway county collectors to enjoin the collection of the full 1927 tax on bank stock, was set over until tomorrow morning. Request for more time was made by the plaintiffs, following a demurrer of the defendants which was sustained in seven of the fifteen bank suits filed.

Assistant Attorney General L. Cunningham withdrew answer which had been filed and had leave to amend the original demurrer of the defendants by interlineation. Judge John M. Dawson sustained this move until tomorrow, when pleadings will be made. The defense brought up the issue that in seven of the cases there is more than one party to the suit against the township collectors, which it was contended, constitutes more than one cause of action.

Township collectors, the county court, county clerk and treasurer, who are named as defendants in the tax cases, were represented by Mr. Cunningham, Prosecuting Attorney G. P. Wright, Senator M. E. Ford and G. P. Adams, prosecuting attorney of Gentry county. The latter was here trying a criminal case and as the same issue has been brought in this county, he stayed over for the hearing here.

Counsel for the banks this afternoon included W. N. Deatherage, F. P. Robinson and Cook and Cummins.

The rest of the jury panel, not drawn for the criminal case of the State against Elvis Nelson, was discharged from further service this afternoon. The note suit of the First National Bank of Burlington Junction against C. A. Carter will not be tried this term of court, as E. G. Cook, one of the attorneys for the defense has been confined to his home.

This will be the last week of the regular January term of circuit court here, which convened January 9. Judge Dawson will go to Grant City next week to preside at the Worth county circuit court.

Nicaraguan Rebels Threaten Attacks

Senate Foreign Relation Committee Approves Borah Resolution Relating to Marine Occupation.

Washington, Feb. 8.—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee today approved Senator Borah's resolution asking the Navy Department for data on the U. S. marine occupation of Nicaragua and other facts pertaining to Nicaragua.

Secretary of Navy Wilbur has been asked to attend a committee meeting Friday morning with such data as he possesses, Senator Borah stated. Major General John A. LeJeune, commandant of the marine corps, now returning from an inspection of Nicaraguan forces, also will be asked to appear before the committee as soon as available.

Mangua, Nicaragua, Feb. 8.—Increasing reports of activities by the rebel army of General Augustino Sandino have been received in Managua within the past twenty-four hours, including an appeal to the British charge D'Affaires for protection for British subjects at Matagalpa.

Reports here said that Matagalpa, center of the most important coffee district of Nicaragua, had been threatened by a raid by more than 500 Sandino followers.

Commanders of the United States Marine forces here refused to divulge the movements of the United States troops but said there was no occasion for worry as Marines now occupied Jinotega, Matagalpa and San Rafael del Norte.

Courted Eight Years, Wed Only 20 Days

Chicago, Feb. 8.—The courtship of Thomas Hannigan and Anna O'Brien lasted eight years and their friends cited it as a case of true romance and of love that overcomes all obstacles.

They were married Sept. 3, and Mrs. Hannigan revealed in a divorce petition on file today that romance survived marriage but just 20 days.

Hannigan made a submissive lover but a domineering husband, the petition said.

Start Physical Exams at Washington School

County Health Office Finishes at Ward Schools—High Schools to Be Next.

The County Health department, under Dr. C. P. Fryer, is conducting physical examinations this week, beginning this afternoon, at the Washington grade school. Examinations have been completed at the Garfield, Franklin and Jefferson schools.

Dr. Fryer is being assisted in the examinations today by Dr. W. B. Owen, Dr. R. C. Person, Miss Margaret Davison, a nurse, and Miss Bertha Parrish, secretary.

A physical examination will be made of all high school students as soon as the work has been completed among the grade pupils.

ALL OFFICERS ARE RETAINED

COUNTY JUDGES MAKE NO CHANGE IN APPOINTMENTS.

DELAY ROAD DECISION

Petition for a Better Skidmore Connection With Paving May Be Changed.

The county appointive officers will be the same this year as they were in 1927. The county court at its session yesterday retained all the appointive officers.

They are:

George Brown, superintendent of the county infirmary.

Dr. C. P. Fryer, county physician and county health officer.

M. A. Peery, title examiner.

Henry Thorp, janitor of the court house.

No appointment of Charles Stilwell, tax attorney, was necessary, as he holds over. The tax attorney is named by the county treasurer, subject to the approval of the county court.

The county health nurse is appointed by Dr. Fryer. Miss Margaret Davison is the present nurse.

Appointment of the truant officer is made by the county superintendent of school, subject to the approval of the county court, and he is named at the beginning of school. Sheriff L. B. Campbell is the present truant officer.

Defer Decision on Road.

The county court deferred making a decision on the petition for the opening of a road, which would make a straight route from Skidmore to the state paved road, four and a half miles south of Maryville. The case was continued until the May term of court.

It was brought before the county court several months ago in the form of a petition, asking establishment of a new road for a distance of two miles running east and west from the paving south of Maryville at a point three and one-half miles south of the city. The court has been informed that there may be some change suggested by the petitioners, which would eliminate the "cutting up" of farms.

The court checked the warrants which had been cancelled for the last six months with the treasurer, but the statement of the treasurer has not been balanced as yet.

L. M. Strader Sells Out to J. C. Clapper

L. M. Strader, who has been in partnership with J. C. Clapper in the local Singer Sewing Machine shop, has sold his interest to Mr. Clapper and is retiring because of the poor health of Mrs. Strader. He has been in the business ten years. Mr. Clapper has assumed full charge.

A Short Circuit in Car Cause of Fire

A short circuit in the ignition system of the George Burch automobile was believed to have caused it to catch fire at 10:30 o'clock last night at 303 North Prairie.

Mr. Burch was pulling another car through an alley when flames burst through the dash board of his own car. The fire department was summoned. Damage was estimated at $10.

Judge Sayler Unites Two Couples Today

Judge Joseph H. Sayler performed his second marriage ceremony today when he read the service uniting Francis Young and Esther Wiseman, both of Hopkins. The marriage license was issued by Jack Greeson, recorder of deeds.

TRACK MEET DATES FIXED

HIGH SCHOOL CONTEST TO BE HELD APRIL 26-28.

PREPARING BULLETIN

Full Details to Go Out Soon to All Schools in Northwest Missouri District.

The annual High School Contests and Track Meet of Northwest Missouri, sponsored by the State Teachers College, will be held in Maryville April 26, 27 and 28 this year, it was announced today by M. E. Selecman, director of information at the College.

Work has been started in compiling the sport bulletin which will be mailed to every high school in this section of the state.

The bulletins, as in the past, will give the rules and regulations governing the various athletic, music, art, forensic and other contests.

Mr. Selecman, manager of the contests, who is compiling the bulletin, said that requests are now being made of the various heads of departments at the College to report on the contests in their departments.

Several inquiries already have been received from high schools asking for information about the contest events. Many of these inquiries are about the music and public speaking events, Mr. Selecman said.

The only information being sent out from the office at present is the announcement of the dates.

It is not thought there will be any new contest events this year, but nothing will be known until the College department heads have submitted the contests under them and they are passed upon.

Last year there were 1,500 entries in track and field events and other contests. The College expects the number to be practically the same this year.

Among other things to be taken care of soon, other than compiling the sport bulletin, will be the making of arrangements with the railways to grant a fare and one-half rates to all the contestants.

Republican District Committee to Meet

E. C. Curfman and Mrs. F. S. King Receive Notice.—Phares Mentioned for Delegate.

E. C. Curfman and Mrs. F. S. King, chairman and vice-chairman respectively, of the Republican county committee, have received notice of the meeting of the Republican congressional committee, to be held in St. Joseph Saturday morning at 11 o'clock at the Robidoux hotel, to arrange the time, place and basis of representation for the district convention.

The purpose of the district convention will be to elect two delegates and two alternates to the national convention in June at Kansas City.

According to today's St. Joseph Gazette, it has been the custom for years to elect one delegate to the national convention from St. Joseph and the other from out in the district, and movements in behalf of three men already have been launched.

B. G. Voorhees of St. Joseph is being mentioned prominently for delegate from St. Joseph, and, since it is Nodaway county's turn, William F. Phares of Maryville, for out-district delegate, according to the Gazette.

West Point-Nebraska Football Is Arranged

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 8.—A contract for a football game between Nebraska University and the United States military academy at West Point, for November 24, 1928, has been signed, H. D. Gish, acting athletic director for Nebraska, announced today. The game will be played at West Point.

The contract was signed last Friday when Gish was in West Point conferring with army officials.

Only one game is called for in the contract and there is little likelihood, Gish believes, that a return game will be played in Nebraska in 1929.

The Army-Nebraska game fills the vacancy on the Army schedule left by concellation of the annual Army-Navy grid classic.

Permission for the Army-Nebraska game was given Nebraska by the Big Six conference, with Kansas University casting the only dissenting vote.

Mexican Government Troops After Rebels

Mexico City, Feb. 8.—The government today apparently was concentrating all its available troops in the states of Jalisco and Guanajuato where disturbing reports were made of rebel activities including firing and bombing of trains.

War minister Joaquin Amaro personally is directing the forces in the region of Los Altos, State of Guanajuato, where many rebels were reported to have fled from the state of Jalisco.

The government's efforts seem to be directed toward eliminating each band of rebels and ending train holdups.

START TRIAL OF GOVERNOR

JACKSON OF INDIANA CHARGED WITH BRIBERY.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY

Trial Is Climax to Year's Inquiry Into Alleged Political Corruption In Indiana.

Courtroom, Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 8. Governor Ed Jackson pleaded not guilty today to a charge of conspiracy to conceal an alleged offer of a $10,000 bribe to Governor Warren T. McCray when the latter was governor.

A few minutes after Jackson's plea, attorneys stated examination of prospective jurors. The state completed preliminary examination of all twelve talesmen at 11:05 a. m.

Jackson and two co-defendants, Geo. V. Coffin, political leader, and Robert I. Marsh, the Governor's former law partner, came before the bar, waived reading of the indictment against them and entered pleas of not guilty.

Prosecute Jackson First.

Judge McCabe granted motions for Coffin and Marsh for separate trials. The state elected to prosecute Jackson first, placing him on trial alone.

The Ku Klux Klan was brought into the trial early. Emseley W. Johnson, special deputy prosecutor, examining Charles E. Bragg, a talesman, asked if he knew D. C. Stephenson, former klan dragon and political power in Indiana, who now is serving a life sentence for murder. Bragg said he did not know Stephenson.

Second to Face Trial.

The second Indiana governor to face criminal proceedings in four years, Jackson specifically was accused of offering McCray $10,000 in 1923 if McCray would appoint a Marion county (Indianapolis) prosecutor satisfactory to Jackson.

McCray was purported to have refused the offer. However, a few months later, he was convicted of using the mails to defraud in an attempt to refinance his agricultural holdings. He received a sentence in Atlanta federal penitentiary.

The state contends Jackson, Marsh and Coffin conspired to gain control of the Marion county prosecutor's office when William P. Evans, McCray's son-in-law, resigned. It was said that Evans resigned rather than prosecute his father-in-law.

No Right to Have Jurors Shadowed

Justice Siddons Overrules Motion to Dismiss Contempt Charges Against Sinclair.

Washington, Feb. 8.—Justice Siddons today ruled that as a matter of law Harry Sinclair, oil millionaire, had no right to employ detectives to shadow jurors in the Fall-Sinclair oil conspiracy trial.

He overruled the motion to dismiss the contempt charges brought against Sinclair, W. J. Burns, detective, and four associates.

Washington, Feb. 8.—John D. Rockefeller, jr., persuaded Col. Robert W. Stewart of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana to return from Cuba to appear before the Senate Teapot Dome committee and now is "sorry" that Stewart did not answer all the questions of the committee. These facts were developed today when Senator Walsh of Montana made public a series of letters and telegrams he had exchanged with Rockefeller.

The correspondence disclosed that Rockefeller, who owns most of the Indiana company of which Stewart is chairman of the board, directed Stewart to tell all he knew about the mysterious deal of oil men in 1921 by which a $3,000,000 fund was secreted in the Continental Trading Company of Canada.

LOWDEN FILES FOR PRIMARY

PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN REACHES ACTIVE STAGE.

OTHER FILINGS SECRET

Meanwhile Small and Thompson, Opposing Former Governor, Form An Alliance.

Chicago, Feb. 8.—Frank O. Lowden has filed his petition for a place on the ballot in the Republican presidential primary in Illinois, the United Press learned today.

It is the first state in which Lowden has filed.

The petition is in the office of Secretary of State Louis Emmerson, with scores of petitions for state offices which cannot be made public until a court injunction is lifted, the United Press was informed.

Filing the petition marks the opening of the second stage of the Lowden campaign.

Active Effort to Begin.

Heretofore, although it has been known definitely that Lowden considered himself a candidate, the activity in his behalf has been largely person-to-person work, laying the foundations for the campaign. From now on, the campaign becomes an active effort to obtain votes, although Lowden himself, according to Clarence F. Buck, his campaign manager, will not campaign actively in the primaries.

The Illinois filing was held up by question as to the legality of the state primary law. The state supreme court recently upheld it, but an injunction restraining the secretary of state from acting upon petitions still is in effect. It probably will be lifted within a day or two.

Lowden probably will file soon in several other states, although it has not been decided definitely which state campaigns he will enter, Buck said.

Small and Thompson in Pact.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 8.—Governor Len Small and Mayor William Hale Thompson of Chicago negotiated an agreement here early today which observers believed left the governor in a much strengthened position in his campaign for a third term, and definitely established Thompson as the absolute ruler of Cook County Republicanism.

Mayor Thompson made an unexpected trip here from Chicago, arriving shortly before midnight. With Senator-elect Frank Smith, refused his seat by the U. S. Senate, as a third conferee, Thompson and Small reached what amounted to an offensive and defensive alliance under which Thompson will support Small for the governorship and Small will yield Thompson full patronage rights in Chicago and Cook County.

The agreement marks the final eclipse of Fred Lundin, once undisputed Cook County Republican leader, as an important factor in state politics.

Agree on Four Principals.

The conference adjourned a few minutes before 1 a. m., and Small issued a statement saying he and Thompson had agreed on four cardinal principles "which we believe to be vital in the interest of the people—"America first, farm relief, inland waterways development and national flood control."

The statement pledged Chicago home rule in its traction and transportation problems, and said:

"I have determined that in appointments and policies affecting Chicago, I shall seek the advice of Mayor Thompson and shall be guided by his suggestions and counsey to the end that we may work in harmony."

Appoint Receiver of K. C. Stock Land Bank

Washington, Feb. 8.—H. M. Langworthy, Kansas City, was appointed receiver today for the Kansas City Joint Stock Land Bank.

The farm loan board announced W. R. Compton had resigned as temporary receiver of the bank because he desired to enter other business. Langworthy takes over the affairs of the bank at once.

$30,000 to Finance Walsh Investigation.

Washington, Feb. 8.—The Senate audit and control committee late today authorized a $30,000 appropriation to finance the proposed public utilities investigation provided for by the Walsh resolution.

Senate Against Third Terms for President

LaFollette Resolution to Pass Despite Friends of Coolidge; "Congratulates" Executive.

Washington, Feb. 8.—A majority of the Senate is preparing to pass today a resolution expressing the opinion that third presidential terms are unwise, unpatriotic and harmful to the perpetuity of Free Institutions.

Close friends of President Coolidge in the Senate, like Senators Bingham and Gillett, have denounced the resolution as a political maneuver to embarrass any movement to draft President Coolidge either this year or in 1932.

Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin, whose father ran independently against Mr. Coolidge in 1924, said he introduced the resolution because Charles D. Hilles of New York and some other powerful Republicans were, according to his information, planning to stampede the Kansas City convention for Mr. Coolidge.

The resolution contains one clause which "congratulates" Mr. Coolidge on his stand against renomination.

FLIGHT ENDS IN TRIUMPH

LINDBERGH ARRIVES IN CUBA, COMPLETING TOUR.

AHEAD OF SCHEDULE

Good Will Flier Ignores Leaky Valve as He Leaves Haiti.—Greeted by 21 Nations.

Columbia Flying Field, Havana, Feb. 8.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh landed at 3:56 p. m. today, completing his triumphal flight through Latin-America to the Pan-American conference.

Lindbergh's progress along the 720-mile route from Port-au-Prince, Haiti, where he took off at 6:35 a. m., ignoring a leaky valve in his plane, was a fitting end to his long good will tour. He was ahead of schedule all the way.

He delayed his landing purposely. He said he would arrive at 4 p. m.

A delirious crowd of five thousand shouting, gesticulating men and women that included representatives of all the twenty-one Pan-American Republics, watched the silvery "Spirit of St. Louis" approach, descend, circle the field and land perfectly.

It was the end for Lindbergh of almost two months of an aerial tour whose like never has been seen, and it was the beginning for Cuba of her opportunity to show a maker of flying history what she thought of him.

The American left behind him at Port-au-Prince, the good-will of a nation that for two days had marveled at his reticence; a nation that had given him its highest honor and a nation that had completely succumbed to his engaging personality.

Senate Proposes a Medal.

Washington, Feb. 8.—A measure authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to design a medal commemorating the achievements of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was passed today by the Senate. It now goes to the house for concurrence.

Jury Still Out in Elvis Nelson Case

Jurors Start Deliberations About 11:15 o'Clock This Morning on Burglary and Larceny Case.

The jury deliberating the fate of Elvis Nelson, charged with burglary and larceny was still out at 3:10 o'clock this afternoon. Arguments were completed about 11 o'clock this morning when the case went to the jury. Forty minutes was taken by the jury for dinner.

Nelson, who lives near Alanthus in Gentry county, is charged by the state to be implicated in the theft of nine sacks of flour and 27 dozen eggs July 25, 1927, from the Alanthus Produce Company. The case was brought to this county on a change of venue.

The contention of the defendant was that he was drunk the night of the robbery and the theft committed unbeknown to him.

16 Years at Sunday School Without Miss

Jefferson City, Mo., Feb. 8.—A long distance attendance record is claimed for Miss Bessie Amos, who has not missed a day at the Presbyterian Sunday School here in more than 16 years. Newman Railton and Edgar Railton rank close second and third with 15 and 14 years each.

TRIAL OF 'FOX' NEARS AN END

TESTIMONY IN INSANITY CASE COMPLETED TODAY.

PARKER TELLS STORY

Father of Slain Girl Fails to Move Hickman—Case to Jury by Tomorrow Night.

Court Room, Los Angeles, Feb. 8.—William Edward Hickman moved a step nearer the gallows or the insane asylum today as the state rested.

The prosecution brought its case against the slayer of Marion Parker to a sensational climax with the testimony of Perry M. Parker, father of the victim.

The "blood money" which the father had given Hickman for the return of his butchered child was returned again into his hands. The banker, fingered the notes and identified them.

"How many are missing?" the district attorney asked.

"Five, to the best of my knowledge," the father of Marion Parker replied.

"I had the money with me," Parker continued. "The next night he called and made another appointment.

"I received two calls that night and went to the appointed place after receiving the second call.

"Do you know the defendant, Hickman, as the man you saw that night?" District Attorney Keyes asked.

"I do," Parker declared vehemently and left the stand without cross examination.

Fox Still Immobile.

The most crucial moment in the trial had passed and "The Fox" was still immobile.

Judge J. J. Trabucco ordered court adjourned until 2 p. m. today. At that time final arguments will start, with each side allotted three hours to make its plea on the fate of "The Fox."

The prosecution will have the opening and closing arguments and will demand that Hickman be sent to the gallows for his crime.

The main point in the state's argument will be the claim that the defense has failed to show by its evidence that Hickman is insane, the only avenue by which he can escape the death penalty for his act.

The argument of the defense will be that it has shown by testimony of alienists and others that Hickman is insane.

Cantillon will close for the defense tomorrow and will be followed by Asa Keyes, district attorney, in a final demand that the state take the slayer's life in payment for his murder of the little school girl.

To Jury Tomorrow.

Judge Trabucco indicated he would have his charge to the jury to deliver immediately after the end of the trial arguments.

This would place the fate of "The Fox" in the hands of the jury late tomorrow.

George Contraras, a detective, was the last witness on the stand.

He told of arriving at the spot where Hickman delivered the body of Marion Parker to her father.

Parker seemed almost out of his mind, the witness said, and had to be taken home by the officers.

The father, complete master of his emotions today, preceded Contreas on the witness stand.

He told of attempts to meet the kidnaper and pay the ransom money and finally keeping rendezvous with him the night the body was returned.

Frantically he went to the appointed place and waited for the kidnaper's car to appear, Parker testified.

State Gas Tax Last Year Was $6,444,853

Jefferson City, Mo., Feb. 8.—The state oil department collected $6,444,385 in gasoline taxes during 1927, according to a report William A. McAtee, state oil inspector. This is $49,410 more than was collected in 1926. During the last three years the department has collected $17,272,483 in gasoline taxes for the support of the state highways, the report shows.

THE ONLY DAILY PAPER IN NODAWAY COUNTY

A BAFFLING QUESTION.

"Who is Charles A. Lindbergh?" This question, submitted to the freshmen of the University of Arkansas in a history quiz, brought the following answers from four of the young historians:

One explained that Lindbergh was prime minister of Sweden in the fifteenth century.

One thought he was a German general in the World War.

One thought he was a Bolshevik leader in Russia.

One thought he was the battle line that the Allies broke through in 1918.

The more you ponder these answers, the more you are puzzled. Where do such students come from? What kind of families do they belong to? What sort of people do they associate with? Do they ever see anything, or hear anything, or talk about anything? Are they going through life with their senses closed?

Presumably they know something, or they could hardly get into college; but are they incapable of learning anything except from printed textbooks?

Maybe the colleges should introduce a compulsory course of newspaper-reading.

Missouri, now is nationally recognized as having one of the best marked systems of highways in the United States. The department is working to better improve our present marking and before the end of the present year, promises to have even our most remote routes completely and properly marked. The method of road marking in use in Missouri is the simple and effective.

M. I. A. A. RACE THIS YEAR IS CLOSEST EVER

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Springfield	5	2	.714
Warrensburg	4	3	.571
Maryville	3	3	.500
Kirksville	2	2	.500
Cape Girardeau	1	5	.166

The tightest basketball race in the history of the M. I. A. A. conference is in prospect this year. This is evidenced by the results of the Kirksville-Springfield game at Springfield last night, when the Northeast Teachers romped away with the Bears, 28 to 19. The previous night the Bears had defeated the Bulldogs 25 to 21.

Kirksville has a team with a defense hard to penetrate, as the Don Faurot men have held conference opponents this year to low scores, except in the Warrensburg game, which the Mules won, 46-31. The game last night was the fourth conference tilt for the Bulldogs this week. They will launch another drive toward the top of the conference ladder Friday and Saturday at Warrensburg.

Meanwhile the Bearcats, who are tied with the Bulldogs for third and fourth places, both having averages of .500, will take on two conference teams here this week.

The Cape Girardeau Indians will play here Thursday night and the Springfield Bears will be here Friday night.

As the race stands now, every team has been defeated at least twice, and the "dope" is all jumpled. How is one to make predictions when games have resulted like this:

The Bearcats lost to Warrensburg, then won; lost to Cape Girardeau, then won; lost to Springfield, then won.

Springfield won two from Warrensburg won from both Maryville and Kirksville, both of whom defeated Springfield.

Cape Girardeau lost two games each to Warrensburg and Springfield, but won one from the Bearcats, who conquered both the Mules and Bears in one game.

Kirksville lost to Warrensburg, then won from Springfield after the Bears had trimmed the Mules twice.

BEARCATS ARE OVERWHELMED

COOK PAINT TEAM WINS IN A ROMP, 68-15.

IN FANCY EXHIBINION

Peterson, Smaha and Mosby Score From All Distances.—S. T. C. Regulars Saved for Other Games.

It is a sports axiom that "a good big man can defeat a good little man most any time."

And that a good big team can defeat a good little team was demonstrated last night on the Teachers College floor, when the Cook basketball quintet of Kansas City ran wild to defeat the Northwest Teacher Bearcats, 68 to 15.

The score was tied once, at 2-all, Ferguson looping a pretty shot to tie the score after Bob Mosby, guard, had opened the scoring for the Cooks. But that basket by Ferguson was one out of five that the Bearcats scored during the entire game.

Hedges, the scoring ace upon whom the Bearcats depend so much, was decidedly off form last night and shot after shot went amiss.

The Cooks, towering above the Bearcats, generally got the ball after the tip-off, regardless of whether Burks got the jump on the tall Peterson or not. And on taking the ball on the rebound from the back board, the Cooks excelled.

Six Men Enough.

The Painters brought only six men up to Maryville on the trip, but each was proficient in the art. It is hard to conceive hoy they were downed by the Blue Diamonds of Kansas City, if the Cooks played the type of game exhibited here last night, but members of the team themselves remarked that they were "hot" and going bitter than for many a day. Bob Mosby, regarded as one of the best guards ever developed, had his eye peeled for the basket last night, making six field goals, most of them long ones.

Peterson and Smaha each found the mesh for 18 points. Smaha, a Nebraska University product, was playing his first game with the Cooks last night. He went in the game toward the end of the first half and showed bursts of speed to dash under the basket for easy counters.

The long arms of the Cooks were too much for the Bearcats to outreach. The first string men were used in the early part of the game, and they showed flashes of form, but their inability to find the basket proved a damper to their spirits. Second string men were used during the last few minutes of the first half and during the greater part of the second period, the regulars being saved for the important conference tilts with Cape Girardeau and Springfield here tomorrow and Friday. It was against the substitutes that the Cooks piled up scores most rapidly.

It is doubtful whether the Bearcats could hold the Cooks even at top form, but the local Teachers no doubt would give the painters a harder battle in another contest.

Burks Plays Well.

Burks played a good game, failing rarely to come out of the scrimmage without the ball. He made few attempts for baskets and his only score was one free throw. Mosby, Peterson and Smaha wre the outstanding players for the Cooks, but Gordon and Ekstrom cold be used to advantage on any team.

DeBernardi was no so flashy as usual. He got four field goals, all from close range.

The entire Maryville squad participated in the game. The Bearcats made all free throw attempts good, totaling five.

The first half ended 22 to 9, and up to this time the game was a battle. But in the second half the Cooks ran rampant, caging the ball from all angles and ran the score from 24 to 50 while the Bearcats scored a single free throw.

The game was delayed by the late arrival of Referee Leslie Davis of K. U. He attempted to drive through from Kansas City and said he made slow progress this side of St. Joseph in the snow and mud.

Hugh Graham, Maryville high school coach, started officiating to get things moving and later gave way to Davis.

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 8.—Nine athletes and athletic officials of the University of Washington who have been expelled or suspended for hazing Marion Zioncheck, student body president, today intimated that they would appeal to Governor Roland H. Hartley to have their sentences modified or set aside.

Lyle M. Spencer, president of the University, announced that five football players, one member of the basketball team, the head of the associated student publicity bureau and managers of the football and basketball teams had been expelled or suspended. Two were expelled and the other suspended for periods from three months to a year but Spencer did not classify the students who received the heaviest sentences.

SOCIETY

Mrs. Woodhull to Talk.

The Garfield P. T. A. circle will meet at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the school building. The discussion on "Emotions of Childhood," will be led by Mrs. W. S. Woodhull.

Ladies Aid Changed.

The meeting of the Ladies Aid Society of the First Methodist church which was to have been held tomorrow afternoon will not be held until Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, it was announced today. The meeting will be held in the church parlor.

Bloomfield Club.

The Bloomfield Needlework Club will meet February 16, with Mrs. Arthur Wray. Roll call, a valentine box. The meeting was to have been held this week with Mrs. Burley Swalley, but was postponed.

Tuesday Bridge.

Mrs. Carrie Margaret Caldwell entertained members of her Tuesday Bridge Club yesterday afternoon. Mrs. D. J. Thomas won high score. Additional guests present were: Mrs. Forrest Gillam, Mrs. Edward W. Gray and Mrs. C. F. Lamkin of Keytesville.

Plan For Tea.

Plans for the musical valentine tea which will be given at the home of Mrs. C. P. Fryer, February 14, were furthered at the meeting of the Westminster Guild of the Presbyterian Church at the home of Mrs. Emery Airy last night. Mrs. Fred French was an assisting hostess.

The tea will be given from 3 to 5 o'clock. Committees who will have charge of the affair will be announced later.

Dr. Ethel Saxman gave a review of the last chapter of the text book, "The Story of Missions."

The hostesses served refreshments.

Those present were: Mrs. Alma Braun, Mrs. W. N. Dewar, Mrs. C. P. Fryer, Mrs. R. C. Person, Mrs. H. A. Foster, Mrs. W. H. Allen, Miss Mae Anthony, Miss Lucille Brumbaugh, Miss Margaret Davison, Miss Dessa Gault, Miss Nell Hudson, Miss Nora Ritze, Miss Neva Sage, Dr. Ethel Saxman and Miss Leona Willard.

Original Program.

A one-act play written by Mrs. L. S. Yeo entitled "The Gap Filled" was one of the features of the original program presented at the meeting of the M. I. Circle at the home of Mrs. Robert Lyle yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Charles McNeal gave an original story and Mrs. W. B. Price gave an original poem. Mrs. I. E. Tulloch gave an original song. Those taking part in the play were: Mrs. Vada Halley, Mrs. J. E. Stewart, Mrs. Virgil Hartness, Mrs. M. L. Butler, Mrs. J. D. Ford and Mrs. J. M. Hantze. Roll call was answered with children's sayings. Mrs. Alma Braun acted as critic.

Members present not already mentioned were: Mrs. Hugh Strong, Mrs. J. P. Price, Mrs. G. J. Moore, Mrs. Hal Catterson, Mrs. L. L. Catterson, and Mrs. E. F. Hamlin.

The next meeting will be the mid-winter party at the home of Mrs. Yeo February 21, when each member may take a guest.

Auxiliary Meets.

The appointment of committees was the principal business accomplished at the meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary at the home of Mrs. Garnet Gray Watt last night when Mrs. Charles T. Bell and Mrs. Edward W. Gray were assisting hostesses.

Mrs. J. J. Turner, the president, presided at the meeting.

Here are the committees:

Flag: Mrs. Gorman Powers.

Memorial: Mrs. Clyde Kegin, Mrs. Steve Donahue.

Constitution and by-laws: Mrs. Edward W. Gray, Mrs. Charles Bell, Mrs. Walter Mutz.

Welfare and hospital relief: Mrs. Leonard Gray, Mrs. Ray Harrison and Mrs. Fred Waggoner.

Publicity, Mrs. Roy V. Cannon.

Ways and Means: Mrs. Louis Gram, Mrs. Raymond Groves.

Unit activity: Mrs. Garnett Gray Watt, Mrs. John Mutz, Mrs. George Kirchhoffer.

Membership: Mrs. Fern Crull, Mrs. Chester Lyle.

Gift: Mrs. E. C. Bagby and Mrs. Emmett Bartram.

A report of the membership committee added several new names to the auxiliary membership. Personal letters of appreciation from world war veterans in Government Hospital No. 99, Excelsior Springs, was read thanking the auxiliary for the pleasure extended them by the recent gifts which came from the Maryville auxiliary.

After the business session, a social hour was enjoyed and much needle work was accomplished in the making of layettes to be sent to the insular possessions of the United States.

A luncheon of sandwiches, pickles and coffee was served by the women present.

Valentine Party.

The February party of the Intermediate Christian Endeavor of the Christian church was a valentine affair held at the church last night when the members appeared in old fashioned costumes. Valentine decorations and valentine games were played during the evening. Refreshments were served. Miss Laura Hawkins is superintendent of the organization.

Thirty-two members were present.

Evening Auxiliary.

"The Broader Outlook Through Reading," was the lesson subject which Mrs. Bert Cooper presented at the meeting of the Evening Auxiliary, Women's Foreign Missionary Society, M. E. church, at the home of Mrs. O. R. Toman, last night.

The meeting was opened with a song, "More About Tithing," followed by a prayer by Mrs. W. S. Woodhull. Mrs. Leonard Bosch lead the devotions. The subject was "The Parchment."

Mrs. W. S. Woodhull had charge of the mystery box contest and those persons who answered the questions correctly were rewarded with jelly beans.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Toman, and the assisting hostesses, Mrs. W. F. Howland and Miss Gladys Ford.

Guests at the meeting were Mrs. L. L. Gray, Mrs. L. E. Dean, the Rev. W. S. Woodhull, Elizabeth Woodhull, Ruth Brumbaugh and Lucy Lee Brumbaugh. Nineteen members were present.

PACT AGAINST WAR UNLIKELY

INTERESTING BUT IMPRACTICAL, U. S. OBSERVERS SAY.

PROPOSED IN ENGLAND

Suggestion Advanced Anew in British House of Commons.—U. S. Wants All Nations In It.

Washington, Feb. 8.—Proposals in the British House of Commons for resumption of Anglo-American naval armaments discussion or negotiations of a treaty to outlaw war were viewed by observers today as interesting but impracticable for the present.

It was pointed out that the United States within recent months had moved vainly toward both objectives, first at Geneva when naval armaments were discussed and next during the anti-war discussion with France.

It was believed unlikely that the United States would enter into any anti-war pact with Great Britain or any other country alone, or even with a group of countries unless the group included France, Germany, Italy and Japan in addition to Britain. Even under such circumstances, Secretary of State Kellogg was believed willing to renounce war only as an instrument of national policy, without adopting the term "outlaw."

J. Ramsay MacDonald, British laborite, and David Lloyd George, leader of the Liberals, advanced the armaments and war proposals in the Commons after King George had announced Britain was sympathetically considering a draft of a proposed Anglo-America arbitration treaty. Negotiation of this treaty has not actually begun, the United Press was informed.

Exemption for France.

Washington, Feb. 8.—France's obligation under the League of Nations are exempted from operation of the new Franco-American arbitration treaty, the text of that document revealed today when made public by the senate.

IF

If the Bearcats win their game Thursday night against the Cape Girardeau Indians they will redeem themselves for the Cape defeat of two weeks ago and will pull themselves above the .500 mark in the percent column and be tied with Warrensburg.

IF

If the Bearcats can beat Springfield Friday night they will have won as many games as any conference team and will be only a few points out of first place.

IF

If the Bearcats play the brand of basketball they are capable of playing—the kind they played against Warrensburg here, or against the Springfield Bears last Saturday, they can win both of these important conference games this week.

IF

If the basketball fans of Maryville and Northwest Missouri will lend a helping hand in a time of need and give the Green and White quintet generous encouragement Thursday and Friday nights, these two games can be checked into the "win" column. The Bearcats didn't play basketball against the Cook Paints—but they can play REAL ball for they have done it.

IF

The "worm will turn" Thursday and Friday nights. IF a big, enthusiastic crowd turns out and IF the Bearcats hit their stride. Admission will be 50c for each game. Reserved seats at Kuchs Bros. for 10c. The games start at 8 o'clock (And the referee will be here on time).

MACHINE GUN TO MISSOURI

WEAPON USED IN KANSAS CITY HOLD-UP FOR FIRST TIME.

BANDITS GET LITTLE

Four Men Take $500 to $1,000—From Twelfth Street Bank, While Fifth Covers Policeman.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 8.—The first machine gun hold-up Kansas City has ever known was perpetrated with expert precision on the Twelfth Street State Bank, in the heart of the business district today.

The robbery netted between $500 and $1,000.

Four armed men entered the bank and a fifth remained at the wheel of a car parked at the curb. In the car a machine gun had been mounted on the seat cushion and stood ready for action.

Patrolman W. C. Jacobs rushed to the scene after a pedestrian had notified him the bank was being held up. Revolver in hand, Jacobs approached the street entrance to the bank but was commanded to halt by the bandit in the parked car.

"Drop that gun Copper," came the order. The machine pointed threateningly at the policeman. Jacobs dropped his gun and threw his hands in the air.

The four bandits in the bank returned to the car with their loot and sped away. Patrolman Jacobs pursued the bandit car in a taxi but it was lost in the traffic.

The robbery was staged in less than three minutes.

SEES CHANCE FOR BEARCATS IN M. I. A. A.

Couldn't Have Beaten Cooks at Best, Says Lawrence.—Team Best Ever Seen Here.

The Bearcats have a fighting chance to win the mythical pennant in the M. I. A. A. basketball race, Coach H. Frank Lawrence of the State Teachers College commented this morning. He made the statement following the battle with the Cook Painters last night and after he heard that Kirksville had defeated Springfield.

Mr. Lawrence stated that "we have a fighting chance to pull through," and added he was going to whip the Bearcats "up the hill for a conference championship" if at all possible.

The athletic director made a few remarks concerning the game with the Cooks last night, saying:

"Little doubt but what the Cooks were, at least last night, the best team to ever appear on the Maryville floor. Had I been willing to leave my regulars in the game until they at last found themselves, it would have been a much better battle, but with certain defeat coming at the end I decided that it would be better to rest the men as much as possible for the two games at the last of the week.

"There is no doubt that the Bearcats were somewhat upset at the lateness of the referee's arrival as we were ready to go at 8:15 o'clock and such waiting is much harder on young nerves than on older heads. As far as the Bearcats were concerned the climax of the game passed long before the opening whistle sounded. However, the spiritless dragging exhibition that they put forth cannot be excused, and each one of them should be heartily ashamed, especially as they have demonstrated time after time to the local fans that their real ability is of much higher caliber.

"Lack of fight and effort is never excusable, and if each one of them does not try in the remaining games to wipe out the memory of their horrible exhibition, then they are not the men that they have led me to believe. It was not the fact that we weren't 'hot.' It was not the fact we were lacking in ability. It was just the fact that our spirit was a low ebb when we took the floor.

"I am positive that the Cooks would have beaten us under any circumstances. They are a great team of individual stars and they are just hitting their real form. Watch them during the tournament. I am also positive that if I had left in my first string for a longer time, that they would have found themselves and rendered a much better exhibition, but they could never have approached the lead they had handed to the Cooks and at the end would have been an exhausted bunch of Bearcats with the short end of the score."

Music Appreciation Is Shown at Recital

Pupils of Bernhardt Bronson Appear on College Assembly Program This Morning.

An appreciation for fine music was shown this morning at the State Teachers College by the applause given the four persons who appeared in a forty-minute voice recital. The singers were Miss Katherine Gray, Vernon Barrett, Miss Mary Fields and Paschal Monk, pupils of Bernhardt Bronson. William E. Holdridge, piano instructor, was the accompanist.

Miss Gray gave three delightful numbers as the opening part of the recital. She sang "Florian's Song," by Godard; "The Lotus Flower," by Shuman, and as the last number, "My Peace Is Gone," by Graten-Hoffman.

Mr. Barrett, endowed with a rich tenor voice adapted to many types of songs, gave two numbers, "Ah! Moon of My Delight," from the composer Lehmann, and "The Road to Bally Bree", by Speak.

Miss Fields likewise was a credit to her musical study and voice cultivation. She gave three numbers, "A Madrigal," by Harris, "Since We Parted," by Allitsen, and "Who'll Buy My Lavender?" by German.

Mr. Monk, whose musical harmony is declared by his instructors to be almost perfect, sang "Gypsy John," by Clay, with a certain amount of sparkle and verve. Other numbers were "Orpheus and His Lute," by Coates, and "Valentine's Farewell (Faust), by Gounod.

16 LAMBS BY THREE EWES

THREE "CROPS" IN YEAR BELIEVED A RECORD.

GOOD PROFIT IN SHEEP

Walter Runnels, Near Pickering, Is Owner of Productive Flock.—Cites Paying Figures.

Three "crops" of lambs from the same ewes within a single year is the remarkable record reported from the flock of Walter Runnels, who lives two and one-half miles southeast of Pickering.

J. R. Braniger, whose attention was first called to the prolific ewes, said it is unusual for ewes to lamb more than once a year. Occasionally there are reports of two, but he never had heard of three in a single year, he said. Mr. Braniger represents a stock powder company and is a local authority on sheep.

Not only did three ewes owned by Mr. Runnels have lambs three times within a year, but one of them had two each time and the other two produced five lambs each during the year.

A ewe designated by Mr. Runnels as Ewe No. 1, had two lambs on January 18, 1927; two on June 22, 1927, and two on January 16 of this year.

Ewe No. 2 had two lambs January 23, 1927; one June 23, and two January 18, 1928.

Ewe No. 3 had two lambs February 9, 1927; one July 27, 1927; and two February 3, 1928.

The ewes are of Oxford descent and the lambs were sired by a purebred Shropshire buck.

Mr. Runnels sent the first lambs to market, but says he will keep the present lambs to see if the unusual prolific breeding strain can be perpetuated through breeding.

The owner did not begin handling sheep until February, 1926, but he already is firmly convinced of their value to the Nodaway county farmer.

"I believe they are the one thing that is paying the farmer today," he said. "I fed a bunch of hogs all summer and fed them at a loss. But there is profit in sheep."

Mr. Runnels bought twenty ewes in 1926 from Ed Shreve, north of Maryville, paying $15 a head or a total of $300. He lost two eyes without lambs, but in 1926 he received $286 for wool and the lambs, practically reimbursing him for his original investment and leaving him with the ewes.

Last year he sold twelve head of lambs at $16.50, averaging 67 pounds, and nine others, averaging 73 pounds, at $13.75. Wool brought $36.

He has had forty-six lambs since January 1, 1927. There are nineteen ewes now.

Twenty head of ewes can be fed during the winter, Mr. Runnels maintains, at no more cost than one sow. He feeds them alfalfa, sheaf oats with sweet clover sowed and cut with it, and a half on ear of corn twice a day. They are fed only in the winter, supporting themselves in summer.

Other stock do not like to use the same pasture with sheep, the breeder admitted, but he considers this more than offset by the fact that the sheep eat weed and sprouts of all kinds, as well as grass.

While he has had little trouble with his own flock, Mr. Runnels advises that the inexperienced breeder proceed slowly, experimenting first with a small number of sheep, until he acquires a knowledge of the diseases to which they are subject and how to treat them.

He has had no trouble caring for his flock, Mr. Runnels said. They come up close to the house every night and are easily corralled.

This and That

To be sure Parnell is justly called a "busy town". How could it be otherwise when it has so many B's within its limits. Among these Busy Bees we note the following—Brashear, Baublits, Boedecker, Bateman, Burch, Beekman, Bremer, Bishop, Bloomfield, Bird, Batson, Berg, Beatty, Bennett, Batt, Brummit and Burns and we will add our good farmer friends who live a short distance out: Barber, Breit, Beatty, Blackburn, Birkenholz and Boedecker.

TICKETS FOR DINNER SENT

BIDS OUT FOR CLOVER AND PROSPERITY CONFERENCE.

GUESTS OF BANKERS

Farmer From Each School District Invited to Third Annual Event Here Feb. 15.—Others Welcome.

Tickets for the dinner which will be held in connection with the Third Annual Clover and Prosperity Conference of Nodaway county, to be held here February 15, were mailed out yesterday by J. Ross Fleetwood, county extension agent. Tickets for the dinner have been sent to one delegate in each school district of the county.

The dinner is being given by the Nodaway County Bankers Association and will be at the First M. E. Church in Maryville at noon February 15. The women of the church will serve the meal. Arrangements for one or two short talks and music by Yehle's orchestra have been made.

Although delegates have been invited from each school district, the Clover and Prosperity conference, which will be held at the courthouse, will be open to all.

The program for the day was announced today as follows:

9:30—Registration.

10:00—Filing of reports and requests for special help on legume problems.

10:30—A review of fundamentals of soil fertility; discussion led by C. E. Carter.

11:15—Phases of Legume Production most adaptable in Nodaway county; discussion led by Ide P. Trotter.

12:00—Free luncheon to delegates.

1:00—Reassemble at courthouse; discussion of county program.

2:00—Selection of demonstrators.

The delegates invited to attend the clover and prosperity, giving the school district, name of delegate and address, follow:

$101.82 PAID TO OREN GARRETT BY ONE GILT

High School Boy Has a Profit on Pig Project Despite Presence of Roundworms.

Oren Garrett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Garrett, living seven miles north of Maryville, realized a total of $101.82 as a project income from one purebred Duroc Jersey gilt. He is a student in the vocational agriculture class of the Maryville high school.

Oren bought the gilt from Lawrence Ogden for $45. She farrowed eight pigs. The total expense amounted to $80.17. Receipts totaled $151.73. The depreciation on equipment amounted to $11.16. His total net profit was $82.72, plus $19.10 which Oren paid himself for labor, making the total project income of $101.82.

Oren had bad luck at first with the pigs. They got roundworms but this was checked by a treatment of oil of chenopodium and caster oil.

This story is typical of the many high school boys who have been adding to their savings at the bank through agriculture project work, receiving not only financial return but scholastic credit.

Hints and Helps for Farmers

by J. Ross Fleetwood County Extension Agent

From the heading placed on my article last week in regard to the use of acid phosphate on corn I am afraid that some might feel that I do not recommend its use. On the other hand it will pay good returns where manure or legume sod can be plowed under. It is only where neither of these conditions exist that its use is not recommended.

Several have asked about the use of limestone on corn or wheat ground. It will not pay to use limestone unless seeding a legume crop. The benefit of lime on wheat and corn is an indirect benefit coming from the increased fertility due to the increased growth of legumes secured by the use of lime.

Some recent experiments at the Missouri station seem to indicate that the nitrogen (protein) content of legume plants grown on limed soil is much higher than on unlimed land. Therefore the feeding value of the crop may be very much influenced by the treatment of the land.

Good Oats Varities.

Fulghum oats for early seeding have been found to out yield any other variety in Missouri. Kherson, Sixty Day, Burt and Silvermine also give good yields. Fulghum oats have the further advantage of being practically immune from smut injury. Where it is impossible to seed early it is doubtful if the Fulghum oat is superior to Kherson or Sixty Day, but on early planting the yield is from 5 to 10 per cent more for the Fulghum.

Good Time to Sow Clover.

Where sweet clover is to be seeded on wheat, now is a good time to sow, using the unhulled unscarified seed. One of the greatest objections to seeding at this time is the fact that it is difficult to inoculate the seed. Where alfalfa or sweet clover have never been grown on the soil before it is probably best to wait until around April 1, and sow inoculated scarified seed and harrow or roll the ground.

At the best, clover seeds are expensive and when the germination is poor or the content of noxious weed seeds is high they are dear at any price. It is good policy to sow only tested seeds. The Missouri College of Agriculture and plant board maintain a seed testing laboratory at Columbia where germination and purity tests are made free of charge to Missouri farmers. It takes about ten days to two weeks to secure one of these tests and much money now wasted on poor seed could be saved if a sample of seed could be tested before seeding. These samples may be numbered and sent direct to the seed testing laboratory, Columbia, Mo., or samples may be sent through this office.

Get Brooders Ready.

Now is the time to get the new brooder houses built or clean up the old ones with the boiling lye water and get them moved out onto the clean ground in readiness for the baby chicks to be hatched soon. This method of controlling worms and loccodosis is better than any medicinal remedy in the world, regardless of the price and will do much toward insuring good strong, healthy chicks.

Teach Lambs to Eat Grain.

If the little lambs can be taught to eat ground grain as soon as possible and a creep constructed for them so that they can go in and eat whenever they desire, it is possible to: 1, get them off on an early market; 2, avoid stomach worm troubles; 3, reduce the number of culls when the lambs go to market.

Lambs will usually begin eating at about two weeks of age which is the best time to dock and casterate. At first the lambs should be fed a mixture of ground corn 2 parts, crushed oats 2 parts, oil meal, 1 part and wheat bran 1 part. After about three weeks the lambs can gradually be worked over to a ration of shelled corn 6 parts, linseed oil meal (pea size), 1 part or 6 parts corn, 2 parts oats.

Where lambs are creep fed they will usually eat from .25 to .4 pounds of grain daily and will eat from 52 to 88 pounds of grain for each 100 pounds of gain. Only a very small amount of grain is required to supplement the ewes milk and if this is supplied so that the lamb can secure it at will as where it is creep fed, most Nodaway county lambs can be marketed at 70-80 pounds by June 1. This is before the western lambs begin to come in. During the 20 year period from 1904-1923 lambs averaged $1.50 per hundred more on June 1st than on August 1st. Many of the earlier lambs can be gotten off by April 15 which is usually around the top price for fat lambs.

Barred Rock Pullet Good Winter Layer

Henry Shelman, Parnell, Has One Missing But Three Days Since December 5.

Henry Shelman, address Parnell, writes that he has a Park strain Barred Rock pullet which commenced laying December 5 and has missed only three days since.

Mr. Shelman is quite enthusiastic about the Barred Rocks, saying they "are hard to beat."

Mr. Shelman has thirty-five pullets which were hatched June 2. They commenced laying November 14. During the rest of November his pullets laid 92 eggs; 611 in December and increased the production to 842 in January. "I am trapnesting them and this gives real information about your hens," he says.

Dock Bucks to Increase Profits.

Bucks compose 60 to 65 per cent of the cull lambs that are marketed, assert authorities at the Missouri College of Agriculture. Proper docking and castrating will increase the value of the animals and will stimulate weight production in the more valuable hind quarters.

Iso-Vis is the Oil to Buy if You Want Your Car to Last Long and Run Smoothly

Dilution in the crankcase is at the bottom of nearly all lubrication troubles. Most oils work well enough at the start—but soon they thin out—protection gives way—friction causes trouble. An old, old story!

THE STORY THUS FAR

The story is laid in the Indian territory and along the Kansas border in the '80's, when a fight was being waged for the opening of Oklahoma to settlement. Chief characters are:

TONY HARRISON, orphaned at 13 when his father was shot in a poker game;

PAWNEE BILL, adventurer, teacher, Indian interpreter, showman;

JOE CRAIG, who takes Tony to the Bar K ranch to live;

TITUS MOORE, owner of the Bar K brand;

RITA, his daughter.

Moore is one of the chief opponents of the movement to open Oklahoma. DAVID PAYNE, leader of the movement, dies suddenly and Tony in his loyalty to Moore is troubled because of his sympathy for Payne's cause. He tries to forget Rita Moore, with whom he has fallen in love, and accompanies Pawnee Bill and BUFFALO BILL on a wild west show tour. After many adventures he returns; but Rita comes back for a visit and he is unable to keep from declaring his love for her. When she admits she is engaged to another, he disappears.

When Pawnee Bill organizes his own wild west show, Tony goes with it, but it fails and Pawnee Bill is persuaded to go to Wichita to lead the "Boomers" into Oklahoma. Finally the battle is won; Oklahoma is declared open for settlement.

CHAPTER XLI

Shortly after nine o'clock on the morning of April 22, 1889, a Santa Fe railroad train pulled out of Arkansas City and headed for Guthrie, which yesterday had been a dot on the map. Nightfall would find it a city of 700 tents and 8000 milling inhabitants; the sun would not set before the first edition of Guthrie's first newspaper had been issued from a freight train and Guthrie's first bank, capitalized at $50,000, had transacted business in a tent and Guthrie's first hotel had offered sleeping accommodations beneath a canvas roof.

Ten hundred and twenty-four tickets were collected on that train, the first of ten to be run into Guthrie before three o'clock that afternoon, carrying a total of 6000 passengers.

The first coach in the first train was reserved for newspapermen. Among the passengers were one hundred and eighty members of an old soldiers' colony, bound for Seward, Oklahoma, where they intended to found a Grand Army post. Among the more than one thousand fortunates were two women, both from Topeka. Both of them, it was learned later, were successful in staking claims.

To the south of Guthrie was another dot on the map, which at nightfall would be the bustling town of Oklahoma City only slightly smaller than Guthrie and settled in the rush from the southern border of Oklahoma and the overflow from the north. Other dots were Kingfisher, Norman, Edmond, and Stillwater.

The train which left Arkansas City shortly after nine o'clock was timed to reach the northern border of Oklahoma as near to noon as possible. Flat cars were filled up with plank seats, and for these the lucky ticket holders were offered many times their cost, for the train would arrive in Guthrie far ahead of the swarms who would thunder down on or behind their horses.

Near the stage coach station of Hennessey, Pawnee Bill Lillie's big colony of Boomers stretched along the Oklahoma line and waited for the stroke of noon. Across the line from them, cavalrymen were posted at regular intervals. It lacked just ten minutes until twelve.

Cherokee, moving easily along the first fringe of anxious settlers, carried Tony Harrison to a position abreast of Pawnee Bill, who sat his horse and conversed with a cavalry officer. With a salute, the officer moved on, pulled out his watch and glanced anxiously about him. Pawnee Bill waved his hand.

"Nervous?" Tony asked him.

"Naturally. I hate to wait. These minutes seem like hours."

"You and I are bound to be separated in the scramble. Might as well say goodby and good luck." He held out his hand.

The other man grasped it. "Still figuring on going to Guthrie?"

"I don't know what for, but I am. I suppose I ought to be lined up farther east; it's longer from here. But not knowing what I want, I won't miss it especially if I don't get it."

"That's a comfortable feeling. My brother Al is aiming to stake a claim. I'm glad I haven't got the same thing on my mind." He turned to gaze at the motely array of vehicles. Many of them in the rear were inching forward and their progress was disputed by the favored ones in front."

"With Cherokee to carry me," Tony smiled, "I'm not afraid of anybody around here beating me in. I think I'll drop back and make room for that old man. Come on, Dad," he called to a whiskered pioneer on a sorry mount. "Here's a first class position at the post."

He waved carelessly to Pawnee Bill and wheeled Cherokee around, whistling. Here and there, as he progressed toward the rear, he saw a covered wagon with a man and women in the seat and the heads of three or four little children peering over their shoulders. He stopped beside a buggy in which sat a woman and a little boy and girl. He spoke in a friendly tone and she told him that she was a widow and was making the run for her children.

"To find them a home," she said.

"I sure hope you find it," he told her. "Maybe I can help you," and he ranged alongside and waited.

The minutes ticked slowly away and along the line there was a tightening, a sudden stirring, and voices fell to whispers. Somewhere a horse whinnied loudly, and men and women jumped nervously. "You just follow me," Tony whispered to the widow. "Try to keep your eye on this big stallion of mine, and I'll see that you get something nice for othose children of yours."

There was a sudden movement among the cavalrymen. One of them lifted a bugle to his lips and its thin notes floated out to them like a call to battle. The sound had scarcely died away when there was an upraising of blue-sleeved arms. Pistols flashed in the sun—a breathless moment and then the shots, the start off of the wildest, most desperate race that ever had been run.

Immediately there was a wild scramble. Shouts and curses filled the air as men crowded their neighbors out of the way and wagon wheel became locked with wagon wheel. Tony saw a buckboard turn over completely, a rear wheel knocked off as it collided with a heavy, lumbering covered wagon.

"They'll all try to be first, he shouted to the widow. "Their horses will be spent in less than half an hour. Take it easy and stick to me."

She flashed him a grateful look.

"I don't know why you should lose out on my account," she told him. "With that horse of yours you could keep ahead of them all."

"The race," he retorted, "is not always to the swiftest. Remember about the hare and the tortoise? These people will be so intent on what's beyond that they won't see opportunity when it rears up in front of their noses."

A man flashed past them on foot, chest heaving, breath coming in heavy gasps. "Lost his horse already," Tony speculated. "Probably stepped in a hole or something and broke a leg."

As he spoke the runner stumbled. On the spot where he fell he stuck his little flag in the ground, He had staked his claim.

"What did I tell you?" Tony asked the widow. "Nobody saw it but him, and he'd have missed it if he hadn't stumbled."

He saw two men plant their stakes in the same plot of ground saw them argue heatedly about which had been first. His last glimpse of them was a picture of two men locked in a desperate struggle, while the wife of one called encouragement from a wagon.

"Right here," said Tony to the widow, "is where I run ahead. It so happens that I know a little about some of this country down here. Right over that rise there— the wagons will be going around it rather than up—is just the place for you. We'll see if we're lucky. Don't get lost now."

He urged Cherokee forward. The big stallion leaped ahead, gathered speed and began to leave his fellows behind. Here and there, Tony saw tall hatted cowboys on their wirely little mounts. They whooped, swung their hats and Tony knew they were in the race only for the excitement of it and not with any thought of claiming a homestead. Suddenly his heart went out to them. Poor fellows—their days as riders of the range were short. A few more years and the Cherokee strip would be swallowed up in the resistless march of civilization; the big ranches would be no more and a hardy race of men, scorning the ordinary forms of employment, would be drifting down to Texas or up to Nebraska in search of the only life they loved.

"A shame," he said aloud.

And Joe Craig — what of Joe? He felt a sudden tightening around the heart as he thought of the kindly cowpuncher. And Colonel Moore—was he still in Virginia? Rita—but of course Rita was dead to him.

"In a few years," he confided to Cherikee, "the Bar K will be wiped out. I guess it's up to you and me to go back just once more and say hello to Joe. We owe that to him. Come on Cherokee—up this hill."

The big black horse thundered up the steep incline with a magnificent stride never slackening for a moment. A cowpuncher some twenty or thirty yards away saw them and called out his admiration.

"Some horse, brother. How will you trade?"

Tony smiled and waved his arm "Not for all of Oklahoma," he shouted as Cherokee gained the crest of the hill.

"I don't blame you."

Before them sloped a green valley. Here and there were the stakes of home-steaders and men could be seen digging in the ground—at night they would be sleeping in rude dugouts that they would call home for many a day.

But they had arrived ahead of the vast army. This was just the vanguard —those on horseback. He rode a little farther on and then slipped to the ground and drove a little flag the widow had given him. A bit of earth for a little mite of a woman and two small children. How in the name of heaven would she get a living out of it? There would be many who would turn back, disheartened, in a few months, he told himself. And there would be many just like this widow—brave but helpless women. God help her! She could only hope for kind and helpful neighbors.

(To Be Continued)

With a widow's grateful kiss on his cheek, Tony Harrison rides on to Guthrie to see the drama at its height. In the next chapter.

Skidmore Revival Still in Progress

Garagemen Special Guests Monday Night.—Parish Funeral Held Friday.—Other Notes.

SKIDMORE—The revival meetings holding in the M. E. Church South by Dr. Christie are in full swing, with good congregations and interest. There was a packed house before the preacher Sunday night. Monday night produced a good service in spite of the rainy weather. About a dozen garage and associate men were guests of the evening. These servies will continue indefinitely.

Friday afternoon occurred the funeral of Miss Peggy Parish, as she was best known. The Reverend Mr. and Mrs. Sauceman, neighbors of Skidmore days, were at the funeral and Mr. Sauceman gave a eulogy growing out of the years of association. A women's choir consisting of Mrs. E. C. McClurg, Mrs. M. Stovall, Mrs. Laura Littler and Mrs. M. Gray sang three songs, with Miss Margaret Strickler at the piano. Burial was in the Masonic cemetery.

Mrs. Chas. Geyer has been restricted pretty well to her home for the past two weeks with the hard cold fad quite in fashion in Skidmore.

Mrs. David Mitchell has been and is confined to her bed by influenza and something similar to lumbago. For her age she is coming back to health in a fine way, but it "lets go" so very slowly.

Ham Bramble has recently installed a large capacity Frigidaire cooling box, thus doing away with the old form which the salesman had to reach down ice around in dampness and slush. It adds the finishing touch to other already installed fixtures to bring this busy restaurant up to date.

Sunday dinner guests in the F. C. McClurg home were the Byron Childers, Sam Kuhn and Ed Hershmer families, all of Mound City.

The Home Missionary of the Methodist Episcopal church met with Mrs. J. F. Kellogg Thursday afternoon. The second chapter of the study book, "Adventure of the Church," was presented in the form of a play given by the following women: Mrs. Harry Worl, Mrs. Howard Manning, Mrs. J. V. Hawk, Mrs. J. F. Kellogg, Mrs. Jimmy Weddle, jr., Mrs. Will Saunders, Mrs. J. C. Spahr, Mrs. Roy Strickler and Mrs. C. E. Linville. Twenty-three women were present. Plans for the union prayer meeting to be held February 24 were made.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Jackson, their son, Glen, and daughters, Katherine and Helen, with Mr. Pamroy, all of Powhattan, Kan., were guests with Mrs. Jackson's brother, Mark Loucks, and family Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. P. T. Loucks were additional guests Sunday.

Thursday Mr. and Mrs. Herman Rueff entrained for St. Joseph, where they entered Kenneth in the Missouri Methodist Hospital.

Ralph Sollars and his familiar Ford are holding down the duties as handy man when ever Jake Early is away from the depot on substitute duty. He handles the job with the same skill that he does the impossible Ford.

Mrs. Curtiss Hilbert is back from a stay in the Mayo clinic at Rochester, Minn. She is much improved and has every reason to believe that permanent relief is to be hers.

Clarence Cottrell attended the Farmers meeting in Maryville Thursday.

Frank Manchester got a close shave himself by the flu last week. He is looking peaked enough to satisfy even his very worst enemies, and is around the shop again.

A Salvation lass was in town last week selling the War Cry.

The Rev. Reuben Barrett is as proud as a peacock these days. He showed us an enlarged picture of himself, as natural as life, holding his two grandsons, 5 months old, on his lap. There is eighty years difference between the ages of Richard and Robert, the twins, and their most prideful grand Dad. These fine youngsters are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Barrett of Burr Oak and still are undisturbed in their confidence that Grandpa exists chiefly to minister to their appetite for candy. This picture was carefully framed and Uncle Reuben could scarcely be persuaded to return home, and when he did go he stepped off like a 4-year-old.

Mrs. Glen was a Maryville shopper Thursday.

Esther Reed again is very seriously ill. She has been a victim of ill health for many years and it has been very wearying to her, none too robust at best.

A man was demonstrating an auto mud scraper for the use on cars in muddy weather. A spring touch let out the scrape part from under a fender. After disengaging the mud from the shoe, another spring caused the thing to get out of sight.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Owens report that the older child, who has been very sick, is about all right again, but that the baby is still a very sick child. All indications, however, point to its complete recovery in due time.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Stoval, with Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Cheney, drove over to Stanberry Sunday and visited Mr. Cheney's sister, Mrs. James Humphrey.

Mrs. Beulah Armstrong and Robert and Miss Nancy Melton went out to the Henry Smock place Sunday afternoon.

Last week we ran across the fact that a man in Shelby county passed his 102d birthday and had spent 91 years of his life in that county. His exact age was not clear, but people knew that he was at least 102, up to perhaps 112.

Denton Peoples, son of Mrs. Fred Peoples of our schools, left Thursday for Urbana, Ill., to enter the state University there.

Mr. and Mrs. Norris Fuery of Kansas City, came up Friday and stayed over to help celebrate the birthday on Sunday of his son-in-law, Harry Cowan. These people returned Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Painter, Council Bluffs, Ia., are spending several days with their father, Alfred Kingery.

Harry Worl took a notion to be with the crowd and took a dose of the flu and let his substitute run the R F D from Thursday until Tuesday.

Rheumatic Pains All Gone In Five Days

Gaugh & Evans Invites Every Sufferer To Try Wonder-Working Formula on Money Back Plan.

It's hard for you to believe, perhaps—you folks who have been suffering untold agony from the dull, deadening ache that never seems to leave you—that you can get right here in Maryville a remarkable remedy that will bring lasting relief to your torture.

Don't let any doubts or misgivings hold you back from accepting this generous offer that Gaugh & Evans is making. You aren't risking a single thing to gain a lifetime of release from rheumatic pain, for if this wonder-working formula known as Allenrhu does not completely rid you of every twinge in 10 days the money you paid will be returned promptly.

Remember in taking Allenrhu that while the pains and aches themselves speedily go (usually in the first day or two) you should continue its use for several days longer to help get rid of the uric acid poisoning in your system. And remember further, if after taking it for 10 days you are dissatisfied in any way your money is waiting for you.

Red Peppers End Colds in Chest

Ease your tight, aching chest. Stop the pain. Break up the congestion. Feel a bad cold loosen up in just a short time.

Red Pepper Rub is the cold remedy that brings quickest relief. It cannot hurt you and it certainly seems to end the tightness and drive the congestion and soreness right out.

Nothing has such concentrated, penetrating heat as red peppers, and when heat penetrates right down into colds, congestion, aching muscles and sore, stiff joints relief comes at once.

The moment you apply Red Pepper Rub you feel the tingling heat. In three minutes the congested spot is warmed through and through. When you are suffering from a cold, rheumatism, backache, stiff neck or sore muscles, just get a jar of Rowles Red Pepper Rub, made from red peppers, at any drug store. You will have the quickest relief known.

Cabinet Members in Jugo-Slavia Resign

Change in Foreign Policy Expected as Result of British-American Loan.

Belgrade, Feb. 8.—The cabinet resigned today.

Five members of the cabinet resigned last week following party political disagreements.

The King accepted the cabinet's resignation, and parliament was adjourned.

It is understood that the King has invited former minister of education Vukitchivitch to form a cabinet.

The resignation of the Jugoslavian cabinet coincides with revelation of a forthcoming $250,000,000 British-American loan to Jugo-Slavia that might be expected to alter Jugoslavian foreign policy greatly. Since the war French influence has been dominant.

City Hall Bond Issue Beaten in Columbia

Columbia, Mo., Feb. 8.—Columbia voters rejected a $200,000 bond issue for construction of a city hall when they voted on the proposition yesterday.

A two-thirds majority was required and the vote stood: for the issue, 1,178; against the issue, 1,069.

GARY AGAINST ROAD BONDS

FORMER CHAIRMAN STICKS TO "PAY AS YOU GO" PLAN.

'TOO MUCH INTEREST'

Speedier Completion Not Worth the Cost, He Contends.—Favors Higher Truck Taxes.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 8.—Opposition to the proposed $75,000,000 state road bond issue was expressed in a radio talk last night by Theodore Gary, former chairman of the State Highway Commission.

Gary spoke from station WDAF under the auspices of the citizens league of Kansas City.

The proposed bond issue means approximately one dollar of interest must be paid for each dollar of bonds, Gary declared. He said advancing the date for completion of the state highway system was not worth this huge interest expense.

Gary advocated the pay-as-you-go plan and said once the road program is rightly settled in the public mind, State road financing will be settled for all time.

"What is meant by going more slowly for the two to four years is to continue the use of some gravel or nine-foot slabs or some sections of other type roads now in place for that length of time," he said. "That is all that is necessary to save the interest charges on the proposed $75,000,000 issue.

Now on Pay As You Go Basis.

"The state is now on a pay as you go basis. There will be, including left over contracts, nearly $15,000,000 for new roads this year in addition to new plans for letting some $5,000,000, as is the custom, in contracts to be completed in 1929 and as much or more in 1930. If the road program is once rightly settled in the public mind, state road financing will be settled for all time. All that is needed today is public opinion supporting the plan in force for 1928 and 1929.

"In the plan of the compromise committee, there is a canker that will eat to the core, namely the proposed limitation to present rates for ten years on gasoline tax and license fees for trucks. The highway commission has stated it wants no limitation on the gasoline tax or license fees. The big trucks and buses are doing untold damage to the roads, yet are paying only a very nominal tax.

"Truck Tax Light."

"Five ton trucks are taxed only $27. In some states trucks are taxed from $700 to $1,500 annually. It seems only fair that trucks and heavy vehicles used in Missouri should pay an amount more in proportion to damage done to the roads.

"Through the good work of the emmission the $120,000,000 proposition has been reduced $45,000,000. That means $45,000,000 more is to be available for roads from gasoline tax and license fees instead of spending it for interest during the next few years, enough to build 4,500 miles of road at $10,000 a mile.

"The saving in interest on the proposed $75,000,000 would amount to approximately $75,000,00, enough, if used for that purpose alone, to build 11,400 miles or roads at $6,500 a mile or 100 miles in each of the 114 counties in the state."

Go To Shenandoah.

Mrs. Ada Diem and Miss Mae Doran of Maryville returned Sunday after a two-day visit in Shenandoah, Ia., where they visited the radio stations.

Called to Oklahoma.

Mrs. M. E. Lansdale, Parnell, left this morning for Henrietta, Okla., called there by the death of her mother, Mrs. J. W. Waller.

Mrs. Myrtle F. Dillon and son left this morning for Neosho Falls, Kans.

Four Classes Name Program Committees

Advanced and Beginning Juniors and Sophomores to Present March Assembly Programs.

The advanced and beginning juniors and the advanced and beginning sophomores of Maryville high school had a meeting yesterday afternoon at which they chose committees to make out a program for each class to present at an assembly some time in March. The committees were:

Advanced juniors, R Dell Chick and Junior Curnutt.

Beginning juniors, Genevieve Miller and Leland Smith.

Advanced sophomores, Shirley Bennett and Buster King.

Beginning sophomores, Doris Snodgrass and Charles Bell.

At this meeting the students decided that the money which a member of each class gave to the art exhibit would go into a class fund for the purchase of a picture which is to have a plate bearing the name of the class and which is to be left to the school.

Soccer Discussed by H. S. Athletic Club

The senior athletic club of the Maryville high school held its regular meeting yesterday morning. After a short business meeting, a program was given which was made up chiefly of talks by members, on soccer.

The program follows:

The Origin of Soccer, John Lee Cockayne.

The Soccer Field, Ralph Hahn.

The Soccer Goal, Robert Wamsley.

The Soccer Ball, Harry Wilson.

The Soccer Players, Vernon Taylor.

The Soccer Rules, Johnny Hall.

The Soccer Officials and Their Duties, Junior Stanfield.

The Game of Soccer, How It Is Played, Harry Trullinger.

The Purpose of An Athletic Club, Bill New.

The Way to Conduct Yourself At a Meeting, Cecil Mayes.

A Split Gas Tank Stops Endurance Trip

Peterson and Rochelle Down After 48 Minutes; Had 1300 Gallons of Fuel.

Imperial, Cal., Feb. 8.—A split gas tank caused Albin K. Peterson and Charles F. Rocheville to abandon their attempt to break the world's endurance flight record here today after forty-eight minutes in the air.

Piloting a zenith Albatross plane, they hopped off at 7:23:06 a. m.

The plane was weighed down by its 1300 gallons of gasoline.

Frenchmen Off for Washington.

Montgomery, Ala., Feb. 8.—Dieudonne Costes and Joseph Le Brix, French South Atlantic flyers, hopped off for Washington, D. C., today after an enforced two days rest due to rain.

A. H. Steinbeck Files for State Treasurer

Jefferson City, Mo., Feb. 8.—A. H. Steinbeck of Union today filed with the Secretary of State, formal declaration of his candidacy for the Republican nomination for state treasurer.

Steinbeck was appointed commissioner of pardons and paroles of the state penitentiary in 1925 and was dismissed by Governor Baker on May 1, 1927, following investigation of the penal board by the Senate investigating committee.

He has been editor of the Republican-Tribune at Union since 1904 and served twelve years as circuit clerk of Franklin county. Steinbeck is the third Republican to file for state treasurer. Larry Brunk of Aurora and Herman Lufey of Bloomfield are the other candidates.

St. Joseph-Forest City Line Authorized

Jefferson City, Feb. 8.—A permit to operate a bus line between St. Joseph and Forest City in Holt County was granted Charles Warner today by the public service commission. The bus line will operate over U. S. No. 71 and state highway No. 1.

Iowa Snow and Rain Bring Flood Danger

Des Moines, Feb. 8.—Unprecedented February snow fall, followed by heavy rains and unseasonable high temperatures had increased flood danger in the lowlands along the Missouri and Maquoketa rivers in Iowa today.

Some relief was seen with the weather bureau forecast of temperatures below freezing and generally clearing skies.

Northwest Iowa yesterday experienced its worst sleet and snow storm in four years. Telegraph and telephone service was badly crippled.

Final Grain Review.

Chicago, Feb. 8.—All grains declined fractionally in sympathy with wheat during today's quiet session. Rain over the southwest winter fields weakened wheat.

Rain over the Southwest alleviating the danger to winter wheat there, removed about the only bullish factor influencing the wheat trade. With Argentine offerings continually clearing for Europe the bearish world situation is beginning to be felt here. The local cash market weakened and declined around ½c. The deferred deliveries showed slightly better tone than nearer months. Receipts here today totaled 15 cars and trading was very dull all day.

Rain and warm weather over the belt cut corn receipts down to 220 cars and held that market fairly firm despite wheat's reflected weakness. Export business was very small and there was practically no news to influence price changes. The cash market was strong and advanced ½ to 1c on the slowing up of country offerings.

The oats market was without news or developments and price changes were of no consequence. Receipts 85 cars and the cash market held unchanged.

Provisions worked around steady in a dull market.

The latest strength in wheat suddenly came to the fore during the last hour of trading and prices shot into a sensational rally that pulled other grains higher in sympathy. Continued wet warm weather was the cause of corn's upturn. Final figures: Wheat ¼ to 5-8c higher; corn 1 7-8 to 2½c higher; oats 3-8 to 5-8c up.

Provisions closed higher.
